Will You Qualify?

Definition

Skilled workers are people who may become permanent residents based on their ability to become economically established in Canada.

Minimum requirement

You must meet the following minimum requirements to apply as a skilled worker:

- You have at least one continuous year of full-time, paid work experience or the equivalent in part-time continuous employment.
- Your work experience must be Skill Type 0 (managerial occupations) or Skill Level A (professional occupations) or B (technical occupations and skilled trades) on the Canadian National Occupational Classification (NOC).
- You must have had this experience within the last 10 years.

The National Occupation Classification (NOC)

The NOC is a classification system of occupations in Canada. It describes the duties, skills, aptitudes and work settings typical of jobs in the Canadian labour market.

Who can apply?

Skilled workers are people who can become permanent residents because they are able to become economically established in Canada.

Your application to come to Canada as a skilled worker will be assessed on six selection factors and a point system. The six selection factors are:

- your education
- your abilities in English and/or French, Canada's two official languages
- your experience
- your age
- whether you have arranged employment in Canada
- your adaptability.

You must also show that you have enough money to support yourself and your dependants after you arrive in Canada, and pass a medical examination and security and criminal checks.

You are not eligible to apply as a skilled worker if:

- none of your work experience is listed in Skill Type 0 or Skill Level A or B of the NOC;
- your experience did not occur within 10 years of the date of application;
- your eligible work experience does not add up to one full year; or
- your only work experience is in a restricted occupation.

Selection system

If your work experience meets the minimum requirements to apply as a skilled worker, your application will be assessed against two criteria: required funds and selection factors.

Funds Required to Settle in Canada

The Government of Canada does not provide financial support to new skilled worker immigrants.

You must show that you have enough money to support yourself and your dependants after you arrive in Canada. You cannot borrow this money from another person. You must be able to use this money to support the costs of living for your family.

You will need to provide proof of your funds to the Canadian visa office in your home country when you submit your application for immigration.

The amount of money you need to support your family is determined by the size of your family. These amounts are updated every year. Check our Web site to make sure you have the most recent information.

We strongly recommend that you research the cost of living in the region of Canada where you intend to live. Bring with you as much money as possible to make your establishment in Canada easier.

Disclosure of funds

You will have to tell a Canadian official if you carry more than $10,000 Canadian in cash funds upon your entry to Canada. This could be in the form of:

- money (coins or bank notes)
- securities in bearer form (stocks, bonds, debentures, treasury bills etc.)
- negotiable instruments in bearer form (bankers' drafts, cheques, travellers' cheques, money orders etc.)

Failure to disclose can result in fines and imprisonment.

Self-Assessment Worksheet

This worksheet will help you determine your chance of qualifying as a skilled worker. It explains the six factors on which points are awarded and helps you estimate how many points you may be awarded for each factor.

Factor 1	Education	Maximum 25 points
Factor 2	Ability in English and or French	Maximum 24 points
Factor 3	Work Experience	Maximum 21 points
Factor 4	Age	Maximum 10 points
Factor 5	Arranged employment in Canada	Maximum 10 points
Factor 6	Adaptability	Maximum 10 points
Total		Maximum 100 points
Pass Mark		67 points

How to estimate your points

Read the explanation for each factor, then fill in your score on the worksheet. You may also assess your qualifications using the skilled worker self-assessment test from Citizenship and Immigration Canada. The test is available on our Web site.

If you have a spouse or common law partner, you must decide which of you will be the principal applicant; the other person will be considered a family member. Use the self assessment worksheet to determine which of you would score the most points. This person should be the principal applicant.

Note: A common law partner is a person of the same or opposite sex who has lived with you in a conjugal relationship for a period of at least one year.

A family member is a spouse, common law partner or dependent child included in your application.

Factor 1: Education (maximum 25 points)

Points are awarded for earned educational credentials as well as the number of years of full-time or full-time equivalent study. To be awarded points, you must meet both stated criteria.

Note: Full-time studies: At least 15 hours of instruction per week during the academic year. This includes any period of workplace training that forms part of the course.

Full-time equivalent studies: If you completed a program of study on a part-time or accelerated basis, count the length of time it would have taken to complete the program on a full-time basis.

Instructions

Use the chart below to determine your points. If you have not completed the number of years of study that correspond to your highest educational credential, award yourself points based on the number of years of study.

Examples: If you have a Master's degree but have completed only 16 years of full-time study, award yourself 22 points. If you have a four-year Bachelor's degree and have completed 14 or more years of study, award yourself 20 points.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Master's or PhD and at least 17 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study</li> </ul>	25
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Two or more university degrees at the Bachelor's level and at least 15 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study; or</li> <li>• A three-year diploma, trade certificate or apprenticeship and at least 15 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study</li> </ul>	22
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A university degree of two years or more at the Bachelor's level, and at least 14 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study; or</li> <li>• A two-year diploma, trade certificate or apprenticeship and at least 14 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study</li> </ul>	20
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A one-year university degree at the Bachelor's level and at least 13 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study; or</li> <li>• A one-year diploma, trade certificate or apprenticeship and at least 13 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study</li> </ul>	15
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A one-year diploma, trade certificate or apprenticeship and at least 12 years of full-time or full-time equivalent study</li> </ul>	12

Factor 2: Ability in English and/or French (maximum 24 points)

The ability to communicate and work in one or both of Canada's official languages is very important to you as a skilled worker. Proficiency in English, French or both will help you in the Canadian labour market.

Your ability in English and/or French is one of the six selection factors for skilled workers. You will be awarded up to 24 points for your basic, moderate or high proficiency in English and French. You will be given points based on your ability to:

- listen
- speak
- read and
- write.

Proof of your language abilities

If you have some proficiency in both English and French, decide which language you are more comfortable using. This is your first official language. The other is your second official language.

If you claim to have language abilities on your application, you must provide conclusive proof of your level of proficiency. There are two ways to do this. You can:

- take a language test or
- provide other written proof of your abilities.

We strongly recommend that you take a language test from an approved organization. You will find a link to a list of approved English language testing organizations under the Official language testing section below.

Description of each level of proficiency

Use the following chart to assess your skill levels. Follow the links for a description of each skill level.

Proficiency level	Ability
	Speaking	Listening	Reading	Writing
HIGH: You communicate effectively in most social and work situations.	Speaking: High	Listening: High	Reading: High	Writing: High
MODERATE: You communicate comfortably in familiar social and work situations.	Speaking: Moderate	Listening: Moderate	Reading: Moderate	Writing: Moderate
BASIC: You can communicate in predictable contexts and on familiar topics.	Speaking: Basic	Listening: Basic	Reading: Basic	Writing: Basic
NO: You do not meet the criteria for basic proficiency.	Does not meet Basic Level.	Does not meet Basic Level.	Does not meet Basic Level.	Does not meet Basic Level.

Calculating your language points

First official language	Read	Write	Listen to	Speak
High proficiency	4	4	4	4
Moderate proficiency	2	2	2	2
Basic proficiency (to a maximum of two points)	1	1	1	1
No proficiency	0	0	0	0
Second official language	Read	Write	Listen to	Speak
High proficiency	2	2	2	2
Moderate proficiency	2	2	2	2
Basic proficiency (to a maximum of two points)	1	1	1	1
No proficiency	0	0	0	0

The instructions above are meant to provide you with an informal self assessment only. If you decide to apply to immigrate Canada as a skilled worker, you must provide conclusive proof of your language abilities.

Official language testing

The best way to provide proof of language skills is to take a language proficiency test given by an organization that is approved by Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC). If you do so, you will be able to see exactly how many points you will receive for the language factor according to your test results.

You must

- Make arrangements for testing by an approved organization. You will have to pay the costs.

- Include the results of your test with your immigration application.

What happens next

- You can use the equivalency charts to see exactly how many points you will earn based on your test results.
- The test results will be used by CIC as conclusive proof of your language skills.
- You can use language test results for one year from the time you took the test.

Approved language tests

You can arrange to take a language test from any of the following approved organizations.

English Language Testing Organizations

IELTS: International English Language Testing System

The University of Cambridge Local Examination Syndicate, IDP Education Australia: IELTS Australia and the British Council administer this test.

Note: IELTS has two options for the reading and writing tests: General Training and Academic. You must take the General Training option.

French Language Testing Organizations

TEF: Test d'évaluation de français

The Paris Chamber of Commerce and Industry administers these tests.

Note: You must submit results from the following TEF tests as proof of your French language skills:

- compréhension écrite
- compréhension orale
- expression écrite
- expression orale

Using your test results

Once you have taken a language test from an approved organization, you can determine how many points you will receive using one of the equivalency charts below:

Providing other written evidence

We strongly recommend that you take an official language test if you are claiming skills in a language that is not your native language.

If you choose not to take an approved language test, you must prove your ability to speak, listen, read and write Canada's official languages through other written evidence. You must provide written proof and an explanation that clearly shows you meet the benchmark criteria listed in the Canadian Language Benchmarks in each of the four skills.

Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC) officers will not conduct an interview to assess your language skills. CIC will only use test results from organizations approved by CIC in assigning language points.

You must:

- a. Indicate what level of language proficiency you are claiming for each skill (speaking, listening, reading and writing).
- b. Submit, with your application for immigration, a written explanation and supporting documentation as proof of the levels you have indicated.

This material should include:

- a written submission explaining your training in English or French;
- an explanation of how you commonly use English or French;
- official documentation of education in English or French; and
- official documentation of work experience in English or French.

What happens next

A CIC officer will review the evidence you include with your application.

- Your submission must satisfy the officer that your language skills meet the benchmarks for the levels you are claiming.
- The officer will award points for your language ability based on what you send with your application.
- You will not know in advance how many points the CIC officer will give you for your language skills.

Factor 3: Work Experience (maximum 21 points)

You will earn points for the number of years you have spent in full-time (37.5 hours), paid work.

Minimum Work Experience Requirements

You must meet the following minimum work experience requirements to be eligible to apply as a skilled worker:

- You must have at least one continuous year of full-time, paid work experience or the equivalent in part-time continuous employment.
- Your work experience must be in the category of Skill Type 0, or Skill Level A or B on the Canadian National Occupational Classification (NOC). See below for instructions on determining the NOC category for your work experience.
- You must have had this experience within the last 10 years.

National Occupational Classification

The NOC is a classification system for jobs in the Canadian economy. It describes duties, skills, talents and work settings for occupations in Canada.

Determining Your NOC Category

To determine how many points you can earn for your work experience, go to the Descriptions of Occupations page on the NOC website. Follow the instructions to find the NOC category that matches your work experience.

If the initial description and list of main duties match what you did at your last job(s), you can use this experience to earn points under the selection factors when you apply as a skilled worker.

If the description does not match your work experience, then you might not have the experience you need to apply as a skilled worker. Look through the NOC list to see if another occupation matches your experience. Check all the jobs you had in the past 10 years to see if you have at least one continuous year of work experience in a job that will qualify you as a skilled worker.

You do not meet the minimum requirements if:

- none of your work experience is on the NOC list or
- your experience did not occur in the 10 years before you applied.

If you do not meet the minimum work experience requirements, your application as a skilled worker will be refused.

Years of experience	1	2	3	4+
Points	15	17	19	21

If your work experience does not meet all of the above conditions, you may not count this experience.

Working in Canada

Finding employment in Canada requires planning. You should obtain as much information as possible before you apply to immigrate. There is no guarantee that you will be able to work in your preferred occupation.

Although credential assessment and licensing are not requirements of the skilled worker application, you need to be aware of these issues when considering immigrating to Canada.

Please consult our Web site for some helpful sites on regulated and non-regulated occupations.

Regulated occupations

Twenty percent of people working in Canada work in occupations that are regulated to protect the health and safety of Canadians. Examples include nurses, engineers, electricians and teachers.

Provincial and territorial regulatory bodies are responsible for establishing entry requirements for individual occupations; for recognizing prior credentials, training and experience; and for issuing licences required to practice. The recognition process varies between provinces and territories and between occupations. Recognition of qualifications and issuance of licenses can generally only be completed once in Canada. The process can take time. You may be asked to:

- provide documentation of qualifications
- undergo a language examination (which may differ from those required for immigration)
- complete a technical exam (with accompanying fee)
- do supervised work

Non-regulated occupations

For non-regulated occupations, there are no set requirements and there is no legal requirement to obtain a licence. The employer will set the standards and may very well request registration with a professional association.

Credential assessment

A credential assessment is advice on how qualifications from another country compare to Canadian qualifications. An assessment does not guarantee that:

- a regulatory body will issue you a licence to practice
- your credentials will be accepted by a Canadian employer

However, a credential assessment will help you understand the Canadian educational system and assist you with your job search.

You can have your credentials assessed by one of the provincial evaluation services. Please consult our Web site for more information.

Labour market information

Job opportunities and labour market conditions are different in each region of Canada. It is important to research conditions in the area in which you want to live. Please consult our Web site for helpful sites on the Canadian labour market, job banks, and provincial and territorial labour market information.

Fees

The processing fee:

- is non-refundable whether your application is approved or not;
- must be paid when you send your application to the visa office;
- must be paid by the principal applicant and each accompanying family member.

Calculating your fees

Use the table below to calculate the amount required in Canadian dollars. You may have the option of paying in another currency. For information on how to pay your fees, consult Appendix A: Checklist.

PROCESSING FEES	Number of People	Amount per Person	Amount Due
Principal applicant	1	x $550	$550
Spouse or common-law partner		x $550	$
Each dependent child who is 22 years of age or older or who is married or in a common-law relationship, regardless of age		x $550	$
Each dependent child under 22 years of age and not married or in a common-law relationship		x $150	$
Total			$

Right of Permanent Residence Fee

- $490 per person for you (the principal applicant) and your spouse or common-law partner (if applicable). Dependent children are exempt.
- You will need to pay this fee before your application for permanent residence can be finalized. We will send you a request to pay this fee when we are ready to issue the permanent resident visa.

Additional fees

You must also pay for the following for yourself and your family members (if applicable):

- medical examinations
- police certificates
- language assessments

Medical and Security Requirements

Medical requirements

You and your family members, whether accompanying you or not, must undergo and pass a medical examination in order to come to Canada. To pass the medical examination you or your family members must not have a condition that:

- is a danger to public health or safety
- would cause excessive demand on health or social services in Canada. Examples of “excessive demand” include ongoing hospitalization or institutional care for a physical or mental illness.

Instructions

Instructions on how to undergo the medical examination will normally be sent to you after you submit your application to the visa office. For further instruction, see Appendix C.

Exam validity

The medical examination results are valid for 12 months from the date of the first medical examination. If you are not admitted as a permanent resident during this time, you must undergo another complete medical examination.

Authorized doctors

Your own doctor cannot do the medical examination. You must see a physician on Canada’s list of Designated Medical Practitioners. Note that the physician is only responsible for conducting a medical examination; he or she cannot give you any advice on the immigration process.

Security requirements

Police certificates

You and your family members who are 18 years of age and older and are not permanent residents or Canadian citizens have to provide:

- a valid police certificate, or
- police clearance, or
- record of no information.

These documents are to be provided for each country other than Canada, in which you have lived for six consecutive months or longer since reaching the age of 18.

Note: If you or your family members were under 18 years of age (16 years of age in certain jurisdictions) for the entire time you lived in a particular country, you do not need to provide a police certificate for that country.

The certificate must have been issued no more than three months prior to submitting your application. If the original certificate is not in English or French, then you will need to submit both the certificate and the original copy of the translation prepared by an accredited translator.

It is your responsibility to contact the police or relevant authorities. When doing so, you may have to:

- pay a fee for the service, and
- provide information or documentation such as:
  - photographs,
  - fingerprints,
  - your addresses and periods of residence in the country or territory.

We will also do our own background checks to determine if there are grounds under which you and your dependants may be inadmissible to Canada.

Please consult our Web site for specific and up-to-date information on how to obtain police certificates from any country.

If you have been convicted of a criminal offence in Canada, your application cannot be approved unless you receive a pardon. To avoid the unnecessary payment of processing fees for an immigration application that will be refused, you should first apply for a pardon to the:

Clemency and Pardons Division

National Parole Board

410 Laurier Avenue West

Ottawa, ON, Canada

K1A 0R1

How to Apply to Immigrate to Canada

STEP 1. GATHER YOUR DOCUMENTS

Collect the documents you need to support your application. These are listed in Appendix A: Checklist. The Checklist will tell you how many copies of the application form you need, which documents must be originals and which should be photocopies, and whether a certified translation in English or French is required.

STEP 2. PREPARE THE FORMS

This guide provides only one copy of each form. If any of your family members are included in your application, you will need more than one copy of some forms. Photocopy the following forms, or download and print the appropriate number from our Web site:

Application for Permanent Residence in Canada (IMM 0008): Page two of the form asks for details of your family members. There is space for three family members on the form. If you have more than three family members, make enough copies for everyone.

Schedule 1: Background/Declaration and Additional Family Information (IMM 5406): You, your spouse or common-law partner and each dependent child aged 18 or over (whether accompanying you or not) must complete these forms. Make enough photocopies for everyone.

STEP 3. COMPLETE THE FORMS

For specific instructions, see the How to Complete the Forms section.

STEP 4. OBTAIN POLICE CERTIFICATES

You need police certificates from every country in which you or your family members aged 18 years (16 years of age in certain jurisdictions) or over have lived for six months or longer since reaching the age of 18. Please consult our Web site for specific and up-to-date information on how to obtain police certificates from any country.

STEP 5. CALCULATE YOUR FEES

Use the instructions in the Fees section to calculate the fees you must send with your application. Pay the fees according to instructions in the Fee Payment section of Appendix A: Checklist. Do not mail cash.

STEP 6. MAKE SURE YOUR APPLICATION IS COMPLETE

Use the Checklist to verify that you have all of the required documents. Note that we may request additional information at any time during the application process.

STEP 7. SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION

Submit your completed application to the address indicated in the Checklist. Print your name and address in the top left-hand corner of the envelope.

If you do not fully complete and sign the forms and pay all necessary fees, your application will be returned to you unprocessed.

How to Complete the Forms

The following text does not contain instructions for all the boxes on the forms. Most questions are clear; instructions are provided only when necessary. Note the following:

- Print clearly with a black pen or use a typewriter.
- Attach a separate sheet of paper if you need more space and indicate the number of the question you are answering.
- You must answer all questions. If you leave any sections blank, your application will be returned to you and processing will be delayed. If any sections do not apply to you, answer “N/A” (“Not applicable”).
- If your application is accepted and information you provide on the forms changes before you arrive in Canada, you must inform, in writing, the visa office to which you applied. You must do this even if your visa has already been issued.

WARNING! It is a serious offence to give false or misleading information on this form. We may check to verify your responses. Misrepresentation will result in a two-year ban from entering Canada.

Use of a Representative (IMM 5476)

Complete this form if you are appointing a representative.

If you have dependent children aged 18 years or older, they are required to complete their own copy of this form if a representative is also conducting business on their behalf.

A representative is someone who has your permission to conduct business on your behalf with Citizenship and Immigration Canada. When you appoint a representative, you also authorize CIC to share information from your case file to this person.

You are not obliged to hire a representative. We treat everyone equally, whether they use the services of a representative or not. If you choose to hire a representative, your application will not be given special attention nor can you expect faster processing or a more favourable outcome.

The representative you appoint is authorized to represent you only on matters related to the application you submit with this form. You can appoint only one representative for each application you submit.

There are two types of representatives:

Unpaid representatives

- friends and family members who do not charge a fee for their advice and services;
- organizations that do not charge a fee for providing immigration advice or assistance (such as a non-governmental or religious organization);
- consultants, lawyers and Québec notaries who do not, and will not, charge a fee to represent you.

Paid representatives

If you want us to conduct business with a representative who is, or will be charging a fee to represent you, he or she must be authorized. Authorized representatives are:

- immigration consultants who are members in good standing of the Canadian Society of Immigration Consultants (CSIC);
- lawyers who are members in good standing of a Canadian provincial or territorial law society and students-at-law under their supervision;
- notaries who are members in good standing of the Chambre des notaires du Québec and students-at-law under their supervision.

If you appoint a paid representative who is not a member of one of these designated bodies, your application will be returned. For more information on using a representative, visit our Web site.

Section B.

5. Your representative's full name

If your representative is a member of CSIC, a law society or the Chambre des notaires du Québec, print his or her name as it appears on the organization's membership list.

8. Your representative's declaration

Your representative must sign to accept responsibility for conducting business on your behalf.

Section D.

10. Your declaration

By signing, you authorize us to complete your request for yourself and your dependent children under 18 years of age. If your spouse or common-law partner is included in this request, he or she must sign in the box provided.

Release of information to other individuals

To authorize CIC to release information from your case file to someone other than a representative, you will need to complete the form Authority to Release Personal Information to a Designated Individual (IMM 5475) which is available on our Web site at www.cic.gc.ca/english/information/applications/release-info.asp and from Canadian embassies, high commissions and consulates abroad.

The person you designate will be able to obtain information on your case file, such as the status of your application. However, he or she will not be able to conduct business on your behalf with CIC.

You must notify us if your representative's contact information changes or if you cancel the appointment of a representative.

The Application Process

1. Submission

Each visa office has its own application process; however, there are two universal aspects of the process:

- (a) Completion check: Once you have submitted your application, we will check to determine that all required application forms have been properly completed and submitted, the application processing fee has been paid, and that all requested supporting documentation has been provided.

If your application package does not meet these requirements, we will return it to you. No file will be created or record kept until a complete application has been submitted.

- (b) Acknowledgment of receipt: If your application is complete, we will begin to process it. You will be sent a letter that:
- notifies you of this fact and provides you with your visa office file number
  - sets out some basic instructions for contact with the visa office
  - gives you a brief outline as to future processing steps

2. Processing

Review for decision

Your application will undergo a detailed review by a visa officer. The officer will consider all the information and documentation you have provided, and will assess it against current selection standards for skilled worker immigrants.

Factors that facilitate processing

There are certain things you can do to help ensure that your application is processed as promptly as possible:

- make sure that all the documentation and information requested is provided at the time of initial application submission.
- make sure that you notify the visa office promptly of any and all changes to your mailing address, family situation, or any other information that is important to your application, such as additional education or work experience.
- refrain from making unnecessary inquiries to the Visa Office regarding the status of your case.

Factors that may delay processing

The following factors may delay the processing of your application:

- unclear photocopies of documents
- documents not accompanied by a certified English or French translation
- verification of information and documents provided
- a medical condition that may require additional tests or consultations

- a criminal or security problem
- family situations such as impending divorce, or custody or maintenance issues
- completion of legal adoption

During the decision-making process, the officer may contact you if:

- further documentation is required
